VOL. 21. No. 81. THURSDAY COSHOCTON, OHIO, OCT. 12, 1911. THURSDAY TWO CENTS

Weather Forecast
FAIR
Thursday and Friday. Clear and cool.

FIFTEEN THOUSAND PEOPLE WILL BE ON FAIR GROUND TODAY BY ROUGH ESTIMATE

Threatening Weather Keeps Many Away

All Incoming Trains Carry Only a Partial Thursday Crowd — Pennsy, T. W. V. & O., Wheeling and C. A. & C. Carry Extra Trains to Accommodate the People.

By a rough estimate there will be close to 15,000 people on the fair grounds this afternoon. The crowd is in a measure a disappointment. Comparing the crowd of last year, this year the attendance is small.

Threatening weather is given as the cause of the dropping off of the attendance. All morning old Sol hid his face behind dark clouds and it looked as though every minute might bring a heavy storm. At noon however the sun found his way out and for a while sprinkled the crowds with his warm rays.

Every regular train on the main line of the Pennsylvania system was followed by specials. The Dennison special brought 241 people on the first section and about 150 on the second; first No. 7 from Dennison and eastern points brought 462 and second No. 7 brought 55. The Cambridge special carried only about 500 people; the C. A. & C. special brought about 600 and three sections of the T. W. V. & O. carried 900 The Wheeling & Lake Erie trains coming from both the north and south were fairly well crowded.

The crowds at the Panhandle station platform are being admirably handled by Seth Sawyer in the employ of the Pennsylvania company.

The streets have been lined with vehicles all day since early morning.

The condition of the county roads is thought to be responsible for keeping many people away. The recent rains have made the roads seas of mud. Many farmers however braved the muddy roads and drove to town.

Mysterious Assault.

Cincinnati, O, Oct. 12.—Two unknown men seized, bound and gagged 17-year-old Edna Hogg in the rear of her home here. When found the girl was unconscious. No assault was attempted, says the girl. A note pinned to the girl's dress read:: "We hope we have killed you. If we had any acid, we would have thrown it on you. This is for revenge."

HOSTILITIES WILL CEASE

Armistice Concluded Between Italy and Turkey

Berlin, Oct. 12.—The armistice between Italy and Turkey, for which German diplomacy has been striving for some time, it is believed here, has practically been concluded, although not yet announced as official.

It is understood the transportation of the Italian military expedition will not be interfered with, but that hostilities in all quarters will cease. This is considered in Berlin as equivalent to the ending of the war, or at least the warlike movements, which now will be succeeded by negotiations looking to a settlement.

It is regarded as probable that as soon as the strong Italian army has once disembarked at Tripoli, even the Young Turk irreconcilables will begin to recognize, as apparently the Ottoman government already does, that there is no hope of withholding Tripoli from Italy. Then it will be possible for Turkey to enter into peace negotiations, with the prospect of reaching a less unsatisfactory conclusion than would result from a continuation of the conflict.

Italians Bombard Derna.

Rome, Oct. 12. — Derna was bombarded by Italian warships. Hospitals and barracks were damaged as well as other buildings, and many were killed and wounded. The bombardment followed an unsuccessful attempt on the part of the Italian bluejackets to make a landing for a warship in the harbor.

Asia Minor Not Garrisoned.

Constantinople, Oct. 12.—Shevket Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, said that even Asia Minor was not properly garrisoned, for Turkey had not believed that there was reason to fear attack. The defense of Tripoli was impossible, as Turkey had no fleet.

HORSE SLIPPED AND FELL ON PAVEMENT

A horse belonging to Chas. Norris of Canal Lewisville became frightened at an automobile on Main street in front of The Age office Thursday morning and slipping on the pavement fell. The shafts of the buggy were broken but the horse was not hurt. The accident occurred when traffic was heaviest and caused much excitement.

FLASHLIGHT SCARED WITS OUT OF CROWD

Excitement reigned on Sixth-st. between Main and Walnut Wednesday night when there was a sudden flash that blinded passersby and a dull roar, as of an explosion. People ran pell mell down the street—and found an amateur photographer had just taken a flashlight picture.

FAMED HORSE LAID UP BY A LAME LEG

Star Russell, the former Coshocton racer, is laid up with a bad leg, having kicked herself at Wheeling a week ago. Jay Wood, one of her owners, arrived from Marietta to attend the fair today and says she has been making good all over the country. Her trouble is but temporary.

SCHOOL WORK BEST EXHIBIT AT THE FAIR

The school exhibit is by all odds the greatest attraction of any at the fair. The work done in all the schools of the county is shown and scores of parents are casting furtive glances of pride at the work done by their youngsters.

PLAY FOOTBALL FOR CHICAGO STOCK CO.

An exhibition game of football was played this morning between the C. H. S. varsity and the Alumni teams at Riverside park for the benefit of the members of the Chicago Stock Co. The two teams usually put up an exciting game of football, having recently played two games, each being tied.

BIRDMAN WILL PROBABLY FLY

Local Business Men Plan To Charge Admission to Defray Expense

The Coshocton Business Men's Association is looking at the aero meet proposition made them by M. S. Saulsbury Wednesday, with much favor and it is very probable that Aviator Peck will be asked to make a stop in Coshocton some day next week to make an exhibition flight. It is planned by the association that if the aeroplane is secured the flight will be held in the fair grounds and an admission fee will be charged, enough to defray the expenses. It is thought that ten cents per capita will be the charge. Coshocton people are anxious for the meet. The New Philadelphia Times has the following to say of the Canal Dover proposition.

Although Secretary J S. Karns has said that there would be no aeroplane flights at the county fair next week, Tuscarawas county persons may see some there after all. The Canal Dover board of trade held a special meeting Tuesday night and decided that flights at the fair would attract hundreds of people who would not come otherwise, and as a result they are negotiating today with the management of Howard Peck, a famous birdman. Another meeting will be held Wednesday night to close the deal.

M. S. Saulsbury, Peck's manager, is in Canal Dover planning for the meet, which would be held Thursday and Friday. Peck will make flights at Youngstown Saturday and Sunday, it is said. He would fly from that city to Canal Dover Thursday. Saturday he would continue on to Coshocton for several flights there.

Peck uses a Rex-Smith bi-plane. He is noted for his daring flying and would undoubtedly draw an immense crowd. Last week he was in Harrisburg, Pa., and thrilled thousands with his work. His machine is like those made for the army aviators.

Dover merchants would back the proposition, should it materialize by giving the aviator a guarantee for his appearance at Dover. In return the board of trade will ask a certain per cent of the gate receipts of the fair.

Secretary Karns of the agricultural society announced Monday that he was not in favor of aeroplane flights at the fair because of the dangers to the crowds

ATTACHMENT CASE IS SETTLED OUT-SIDE OF COURT

The attachment proceedings against the J N Kissner construction company brought by G. O Rutledge has been settled out of court after a long-drawn-out series of court procedure Rutledge brought suit in Squire M W Wimmer's court several months ago claiming that the construction company owed him a sum of money for labor performed.

Oyster Laws.

New York's first law prohibiting the sale of oysters in May, June, July and August was enacted in 1762.

The Daily Age went to press today at noon to give employes opportunity to go to the fair.

OHIO-COLUMBUS BIG CENTENNIAL

President Herbst to Address Business and Civic Bodies of State.

Columbus, O., Oct. 12.—An special representative of the Ohio-Columbus centennial commission, Fred W. Herbst, president of the Columbus chamber of commerce, has just started on an extended tour of the entire state and will visit each county in Ohio. His mission is to interest the business and civic bodies of the various cities and counties in the coming celebration.

A hasty preliminary survey of the state has convinced Mr. Herbst that the various business organizations throughout Ohio will want to be represented during the centennial. From various cities, such as Cleveland, Dayton, Zanesville, Portsmouth, Newark and Coshocton, he has received indications of interest and has been asked to make a special address before their chambers of commerce and boards of trade. The particular feature of the celebration which is arousing statewide interest is the historical pageant, which will set forth the salient features of the state's history from the days of the earliest records to the present. All the counties will be given an opportunity to take part in this.

Aviator Has a Bad Fall

Alights on Head, His Neck Being Wrenched and Body Bruised.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 12.—Horace Kearney of St. Louis fell with his Curtiss aeroplane as he was attempting to go in the air and narrowly escaped death. His machine was wrecked. A crowd of 10,000 witnessed the accident. Kearney, who was walking on crutches as the result of an accident at St. Louis in August, when he fell and broke his legs and several ribs, attempted to make his flight in a field adjoining the Indiana university campus. He either did not have the power to rise or lost control of the machine, and it caught in a tree about 200 feet from where he started. The machine whirled around and fell back hard. Kearney was thrown clear of the machine. He fell on his head in a small brook and his neck was wrenched and his body bruised.

Struck at Crossing

Farmer and Wife, Occupants of Automobile, Instantly Killed

[Associated Dailies Telegram]

Columbus, O., Oct. 12.—Harry Armstrong, 35, a farmer near London, O., and his wife, three years younger, occupants of an automobile, were instantly killed at West Jefferson, Madison county, when their machine was struck by Pennsylvania passenger train No. 20, eastbound. The auto was demolished and carried 150 feet beyond the crossing of the National road, where the accident occurred. The two bodies were found near by, badly mangled. Mr. Armstrong owned a farm and gravel bank. There are two children in the family.

EXHIBITS AT THE FAIR ARE DECLARED TO BE THE BEST EVER AT THE COUNTY SHOW

Sheep, Cattle, Hogs Fill all the Stables

Coshocton County Stock Raisers, Poultry Fanciers, County Granges, Local Gardeners, Besides Hundreds Outside of County Are Well Represented—Best Fair Ever.

Wednesday afternoon's crowd at the fair was not quite up to the standard of a Wednesday crowd, in spite of the indications early in the day. It is estimated that there were between 500 and 600 people on the grounds during the day. The record Wednesday crowd numbered 1,500.

The exhibits are all that were promised and more. In the women's department there are all kinds of fancy work, paintings, china and other dainty pieces of work. For a woman to miss it is missing one of the most interesting exhibits on the grounds as looked upon by the feminine mind.

Stock Department.

In the stock department is fruit for the farmer to gossip on. Some of the handsomest stock ever before exhibited in Coshocton is entered this year. Wednesday afternoon large crowds of farmers and stock raisers spent most of their time gazing at and talking about the wonder exhibit.

The farmers this year are particularly favored by the fair board. The Wooster agricultural display is bigger and better than ever. If a farmer could learn all that is taught him there within a few hours he would have a model farm. Then there is a feature department for the farmers from the state agricultural department showing the orchard and fruit growing methods. The scentific use of the tree sprayer and its benefits are explained and demonstrated.

Some Pumpkins Here.

"Pumpkin hall" is crowded and there are "some more" pumpkins there, too. From the lowliest of them all to the emperors of the field they are there. Potatoes, one of which would make a good sized meal for a small family; squashes as large as baskets; and all kinds of garden vegetables are shown. Everything is arranged in an artistic manner.

The White Way.

For the children and some of the older people are the merry-go-rounds, the ferris wheel, the fortune teller, and all kinds of pop-corn and candy. Several vaudeville shows are on the midway and they are doing a promising business. It is said that all of them are worth seeing.

There are few of the "old army" games on the grounds this year. All dim-flammers and marksmen have been excluded from the grounds so that everyone is safe to enter without fear of coming away broke after a round with the sharper.

On the whole the fair is up to a level with the standard.

Grange Displays.

Granges from all over the county are vieing with each other for the best displays and the result is the best grange exhibition ever seen at the county fair. Some of the granges represented are Fresno, Nellie and Oak Grove.

Schools Give Show.

The Coshocton county school display is bigger and better than ever. Although this feature of the fair has been installed only a couple of years it has grown until now it is one of the big things of the fair. There is all kinds of hand work in mechanical drawing, object drawing, landscapes in colors and unusually attractively bound books of arithmetic, spelling, etc. It shows to an excellent advantage the work that is being done in the city and county schools.

Local Men Have Birds.

Many Coshocton men have birds in the poultry department. This department of the fair is excellent this year. Among the exhibitors are Frank Ricketts, Frank Metzler, Jay Magness, Russell Milligan, George tSewart, J. Q. Adams, Dr. Boone and Charles Tish, all of Coshocton.

The Cattle Department.

In the cattle department are shown some of the best stock in the state. Some of the exhibitors there are: Wm. J. Muncie of Washington, Pa.; Clark Bros., Freeport; C. W. Aronhalt, Coshocton; Thomas Mullet, Millersburg and N. H. Wagoner, of Fremont.

W. A. Lile & Sons of West Liberty has some high bred sheep in the stock department. Other exhibitors are J. J. Sheetz, Canal Lewisville; Blaner & Son, Johnstown, O.; F. H. Kites, St. Paris, O.

See it All.

For a sightseer looking for the best features at the fair, he will have to go through every exhibit or he will miss one or more of the big features of the displays.

BOY HURT WHEN HE IS STRUCK BY AUTO

Arthur Blackson, Byesville Youth, Here on a Visit, Gets Broken Leg and Cut in Head Wednesday Evening — Stepped Into Path of the Car — Driver Not At Fault.

Jumping from the rear end of a farm wagon on South Seventh street near Elm street at 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Arthur Blackson, 10 years old, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Blackson of Byesville who are visiting at the home of James Rodgers on Elm street stepped directly in front of Balch's automobile and sustained a broken right leg and a deep scalp wound besides several minor cuts and bruises on his body. The autoist is not blamed.

Balch was going down town from the fair ground with a car loaded with people. The electric street lights had not been turned on and it was dark Young Blackson and his uncle, little John Rodgers, 11 years old, were going from the fair ground to their home They climbed on the rear end of the farm wagon. When they reached the intersection of Elm street they jumped off. Rodgers saw the approaching auto and yelling to the Blackson youth jumped to one side Blackson becoming confused jumped in front of the machine. The fender of the car caught him in the side and threw him to the ground. The driver of the car afterwards stated that if he had been going fast the lad would have been instantly killed.

Blackson's cries of pain attracted a crowd and he was carried to the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers on Elm street where Dr. Lower attended him.

None of the members of either the Blackson or Rodgers families blame the driver of the car.

People during the present week at least, should pay more attention to the vehicles while crossing the street. Accordingly to the driver of the Balch car people of mature years stepped in front of his car at least a dozen times during Wednesday and would have been run down but for his own watchfulness. He says that people jump from the curbing and start to cross a street on which there is heavy traffic without looking either to the right or left. If accidents during fair week are to be prevented the pedestrians must begin by insuring themselves against carelessness and the resulting injury.

VENSIL POLICING SIXTH ST. THEATRE

Humane Officer Vensil has been appointed by Mayor Cassingham as special policeman for fair week. He has been detailed to take care of the crowds at the Sixth-St. theatre during the week.

Shoats and Cows on a Souse as They Browse

NORWALK, O., Oct 12—Even the pigs know how to acquire a quiet souse over in dry Sandusky county. Those of John Fiegelist of St John's Bridge, ate so much pulp around his cider press that it took them several hours to sleep off their jag. Efforts to rouse them resulted in the oddest lot of pig tricks John had ever seen.

CHARDON, O., Oct. 12—Dairymen in this vicinity report that their cows got so drunk from eating half rotten apples that cover the ground in abundance that they refuse to give up milk and can't manipulate their cuds Recent hard winds have stripped the trees of apples and the fruit has become bruised in falling. This causes fermentation.

Must Label the Bottles.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 12—The United States court decided physicians will be obliged to put on the labels the ingredients of each prescription. The case was of the Dr. J. E. Stephens company of Lebanon, O. The company's bottles were not labeled as to contents. They pleaded that, should they label the bottles, their cure would do their patients no good.

TO AILING WOMEN

A Little Sound Advice Will Help Many a Sufferer In Coshocton.

No woman can be healthy and well if the kidneys are sick. Poisons that pass off in the secretions when the kidneys are well, are retained in the body when the kidneys are sick. Kidneys and bladder become inflamed and swollen and worse troubles quickly follow. This is often the true cause of bearing down pains, lameness, backache, etc. Uric poisoning also causes headaches, dizzy spells, languor, nervousness and rheumatic pain.

When suffering so, try Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy that has cured thousands of such cases. You will get better as the kidneys get better, and health will return when the kidneys are well. Let a Coshocton woman tell you about Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. R F. Sayer, 519 Walnut street, Coshocton, O., says: "I am glad to say that Doan's Kidney Pills did me more good than any other remedy I ever took. I was rarely free from backache and my kidneys were badly disordered Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I decided to try them and procured a box at Siegrist & Williams' drug store. They helped me at once and I continued using them until my trouble disappeared I am grateful to this remedy for restoring my health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's— and take no other.

WILSON ALLEGES NO FIXED PURPOSE

Charges Business Depression to President Taft.

Freehold, N. J., Oct 12.—A bitter attack was made by Governor Wilson upon President Taft and Attorney General Wickersham in his speech at Redbank. He said it was due to the fact that they had no fixed purpose and changed their methods over night, that is causing the present business depression in this country. He said in part:

"What is the matter with the business of this country at the present time? Men continually say in my ear that business is not in a satisfactory condition in this country.

"You have heard the president speak about the execution of the anti-trust law. You have heard the attorney general quoted with regard to that. Do you know what either of them is going to do? Does anybody know? Do they themselves know what they are going to do? They have everybody guessing, their friends included, and you can not conduct sound business upon a test of guessing. You have got to know what the morrow is going to bring forth.

"A friend of mine put it this way: 'If they are going to send somebody to jail, why don't they do it, and let us get through with it?' We are not objecting to their sending someone to jail; we are objecting to the uncertainty as to whether they are going to send someone to jail or not, and this backing and filling under an administration that never knows what it is going to do."

REDMEN

First Annual Conference of American Indian Association.

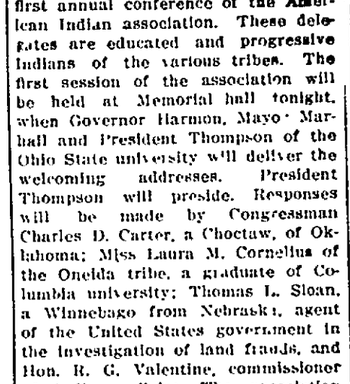

Columbus, O., Oct. 12.—About 200 delegates are in attendance upon the first annual conference of the American Indian association. These delegates are educated and progressive Indians of the various tribes. The first session of the association will be held at Memorial hall tonight, when Governor Harmon, Mayo Marshall and President Thompson of the Ohio State university will deliver the welcoming addresses. President Thompson will preside. Responses will be made by Congressman Charles D. Carter, a Choctaw, of Oklahoma; Miss Laura M. Cornelius of the Oneida tribe, a graduate of Columbia university; Thomas L. Sloan, a Winnebago from Nebraska, agent of the United States government in the investigation of land frauds, and Hon. R. G. Valentine, commissioner of Indian affairs. The association will be in session several days. It has for it object the betterment of conditions of the red man.

TAFT ENCOUNTERS OREGON PLAN

Crosses Over Into Portland Where He Makes a Speech

Portland, Ore., Oct. 12.—Winding up his visit to Washington, President Taft crossed over into the land of the "Oregon idea." They gave him a parade here, and the same crowd that has been seen in cities of this size on the trip surged against the ropes that were stretched along the mile of route The president was given a dinner by the Portland Commercial club and afterwards addressed a public mass meeting.

Mr. Taft took advantage of his visit in Washington to obtain some first-hand information on their workingmen's compensation law, which was rather recently adopted by that state He spoke of this to his audience at Olympia Said he:

"I want to congratulate you on the progressive legislation which you have adopted in this state. I am especially interested in the act providing for workingmen's compensation It is a subject that we have been considering at Washington and which is now under examination by a special committee appointed by congress, and I have attempted to elicit from the governor and have obtained from him a great deal of valuable information as to the statute, as to its operation and as to its beneficial effects."

BALLOONIST FALLS 30 FEET; ESCAPES UNHURT

Chubb Cook, of Indianapolis, Makes Sudden Drop from Air While Attempting First Flight of Week—Will Fly this Afternoon.

Chubb Cook, of Indianapolis, one of the men hired to make balloon ascensions here during the fair, fell thirty feet Wednesday evening at 4 o'clock, just as he was starting to make the initial flight of the week and sustained two painful scalp wounds and several slight bruises. The parachute was accidentally cut loose prematurely from the balloon causing the airman's fall. He will make another flight tonight.

Cook was hanging to the rod of the first parachute while his partner was on the second parachute, the two men making a series of parachute drops from a dizzing height as the feature of the week's fair program. The balloon was released after being inflated and it started up. Cook and his parachute had cleared the ground and the second man was just leaving the ground when the rope holding the parachutes to the neck of the balloon was cut. Cook fell to the ground striking a stake with his back. He was knocked unconscious for a moment but soon recovered. He lay on the ground several minutes before he was able to walk.

The atmosphere was ideal for a balloon flight and when the inflation of the huge air vessel started almost everyone on the grounds collected around the race tracks to see the flight. When Cook fell the crowd, thinking the man had been seriously hurt, rushed pell mell into the center of the race track.

After walking around the grounds for several minutes, Cook was recovered and announced that he would fly Thursday afternoon sure.

It is thought that the rope governing the knife used to cut the parachute loose from the balloon became entangled with the parachute ropes causing the knife to work prematurely.

WILL PROTECT FOREIGNERS

Rebels in Complete Control of a Chinese City.

Hankow, China, Oct. 12.—The capture by revolutionists of the city of Wuchang was the result of the execution of four rebels in front of the viceroy's yamen Wednesday. The troops became disaffected. Fires were started in every corner of the town, the headquarters of the viceroy and of the provincial treasurer were burned, the military commander was killed by a dynamite bomb, and the viceroy himself escaped with his life only by hasty flight.

With the revolutionists in control of this capital, it is hard to estimate how fast or how far the movement will spread. The officials are making every effort to keep the disaffection out of Hankow. Five foreign gunboats are stationed along the Yangtseklang between the two cities, and foreign volunteers are patrolling the foreign quarter of Hankow.

The foreign residents have not been molested. The revolutionary committee issued a proclamation exhorting its followers not to narm the citizens of other countries. The fact that the wishes of the committee have been respected thus far, while reassuring to other nations, is in itself a sinister sign for the government at Peking, as it indicates that the rebellious movement is now more thoroughly organized.

Earlier outbreaks had assumed the character of rioting, in which the mobs were soon out of the control of the leadership, thus making their defeat by the better directed government troops comparatively easy.

As a timely measure of precaution the merchant vessels in the river are keeping steam up, and women and children will be permitted to go aboard them. Volunteers have surrounded the foreign quarter and will remain on duty day and night until the safety of all foreigners is secured.

It appears that the revolutionaries defeated in Sze-Chuen province, where they for some time besieged the capital, Cheng-Tu, transferred their chief activities to Hupe province with the intention of making it the base for renewed operations in Sze-Chuen.

Facts About Indigestion And Its Relief That Should Interest You

Although Indigestion and Dyspepsia are so prevalent, most people do not thoroughly understand their cause and cure. There is no reason why most people should not eat anything they desire—if they will only chew it carefully and thoroughly. Many actually starve themselves into sickness through fear of eating every good-looking, good-smelling, and good-tasting food, because it does not agree with them.

The best thing to do is to fit yourself to digest any good food.

We believe we can relieve Dyspepsia. We are so confident of this fact that we guarantee and promise to supply the medicine free of all cost to every one who will use it, who is not perfectly satisfied with the results which it produces. We exact no promises, and put no one under any obligation whatever. Surely, nothing could be fairer. We are located right here and our reputation should be sufficient assurance of the genuineness of our offer.

We want every one troubled with Indigestion or Dyspepsia in any form to come to our store and buy a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Take them home and give them a reasonable trial, according to directions. Then, if not satisfied, come to us and get your money back. They are very pleasant to take; they aid to soothe the irritable stomach, to strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, and to promote a healthy and natural bowel action, thus leading to perfect and healthy digestion and assimilation.

A 25c package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets furnishes 15 days' treatment. In ordinary cases, this is sufficient to produce a cure. In more chronic cases, a longer treatment, of course, is necessary, and depends upon the severity of the trouble. For such cases, we have two larger sizes which sell for 50c, and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our—The Rexall Store—Siegrist & Williams.

WYETH'S SAGE AND SULPHUR HAIR REMEDY

Grew a Full Growth of Hair on a Bald Head

Here's the Proof

For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin, until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good and I kept using it regularly, until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is now fairly covered with hair and it keeps coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

Reformers Figured in Early Forties

"Conservatives," "Reactionaries," and "Reformers" Were on the Job More Than Half Century Ago In Making Constitution.

BY PROF. C. B. GALBREATH,
Former State Librarian.

Yes there were progressves and reformers, even so far back as the forties. Like the lawyers, they favored revision of the judicial system, but they did not propose to stop there. The list of changes demanded by a modest member of this class, who signed himself "progress," in the Kalida Venture, is sufficiently specific and varied to be interesting. The communication in its introductory suggestions is so applicable to present conditions and the list of proposed changes such a complete summary of things then in the minds of the people, that the communication is presented here, practically without change:

"The act of deciding what shall be the fundamental law of the state is the highest which men can be called upon to perform, and in proportion to its importance and gravity ought to be the candor and calmness with which it is performed. Proposed amendments should not be capricious; nor should they be degraded into mere questions of partisan strife.

"I will not at this time argue the propriety or necessity of amending the existing constitution of Ohio. For my present purpose I will take it for granted that it is both proper and necessary to make amendments, and I will suggest for the consideration of the electors amendments to secure the following objects:

"1. To vindicate the dignity of the state, it ought to be declared that the southeastern boundary is the middle of the channel of the Ohio River and that this state has jurisdiction of its citizens while upon any part of the waters of the Ohio river, when the same is the boundary.

"2. All qualifications of voters, except residence and sufficient age, ought to be abolished.

"3. All electors ought to be capable of holding any office in the state, without any other qualification than that they are electors.

"4. Senators ought to be elected by large districts, and the number increased to forty-eight.

"5. Every county ought to have one representative and one additional representative for a specified number of persons in the county, who should be elected entirely by single districts of one representative each.

"6. Contested elections of senators and representatives ought to be decided by the courts before the members take their seats.

"7. The appointing power ought to be entirely taken away from the legislature.

"9. All officers, legislative, executive and judicial, except subordinate clerks, ought to be elected directly by electors.

"10. The legislature ought not to meet in session oftener than every second year; the session should commence on the first Monday in January, and the length of the session ought to be limited.

"11. After the compensation of any officer is once ascertained, the legislature ought to have no power to reduce it. The compensation of the executive and judicial officers ought to be increased and fixed by the constitution. For county offices, fees ought to be abolished and annual compensation substituted.

"12. The legislature ought to be prohibited from passing special acts of incorporation. So far as associations of persons are convenient, they ought to exist under general laws. Such laws ought not to be permitted to be construed to be contracts to any greater degree than any other law, and should at all times be open to alteration, amendment or repeal. The only effect of acts of incorporation should be to associate persons under a common name and to aggregate capital or means, and should confer no powers or privileges which a natural person of equal means does not enjoy or possess.

"13. The legislature ought to be forbidden to make the state a stockholder with individuals and private companies; and the object and the extent to which the state may be indebted ought to be declared.

"14. The imposition of taxes should be required to be at the same uniform rate upon the valuation of all property in the jurisdiction within which taxes are levied.

"15. Offenses against the good reputation of persons ought to be punished by imprisonment, and the party injured ought not to be entitled to compensation in money.

"16. All punishment by fine ought to be abolished as being unequal and inadequate.

"17. Devises of land by will ought to be abolished and the descent and distribution thereof defined by law.

"18. Specific quantities of land ought to be exempted from sales on execution; and married women ought to have assured to them their property.

"19. The legal equality of married women with men ought to be recognized and established.

"20. The laws of this state ought to be reduced to a systematic code; the process, pleading and practice of courts simplified; the distinction between law and equity jurisprudence abolished; and the common law of England abrogated.

"21. The judiciary ought to be remodeled by abolishing the court of common pleas and substituting in its place county courts, consisting of one judge only, with original jurisdiction in all cases above justices of the peace; and for the settlement of estates of deceased persons and the appointment of guardians, there ought to be a separate court in each county, consisting of one judge.

"22. There ought to be a district court, consisting of one judge, with jurisdiction by certiorari; and writs of error, of course, to bring the judgments of the county courts before him, in cases in which the county courts have original jurisdiction.

"23. The supreme court ought to consist of a chief justice and all the district judges, to be held once a year in Columbus, with jurisdiction by way of writ of error only, to be allowed by the chief justice, in cases in which the county courts had original jurisdiction, and in which the district courts overruled the judgment of the county court.

"24. In civil suits juries ought to be had in cases in which either party demanded one, or in which the courts should order one.

"25. No religious belief and no adjuration of Almighty God ought to be required of witnesses.

"26. The state should refund to the counties all expenses incurred in prosecutions for crimes and misdemeanors.

"27. Power of local legislation ought to be conferred upon county commissioners and their number, by some just ratio, increased."

This bill of particulars, lengthy as it is, does not express all of the demands of the reformers. Even as early as 1849 there came from different parts of the state a demand for the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people. The National Era and the New York Tribune were quoted in favor of this reform, but as the "Oregon Plan" had not been devised at that early date and the forthcoming convention would not have power to abrogate the provisions of the constitution of the United States, this reform was presented as one of academic interest rather than of practical importance.

The enfranchisement of women found occasional advocates, but not in sufficient numbers to raise it to the dignity of an issue.

A reform in which there was a deep and widespread interest, but in regard to which very little was said by the secular press of the state, was the regulation of the liquor traffic. A large and influential class of citizens were determined that the sale of intoxicants as a beverage should be virtually outlawed in the constitution. Their liberal opponents were wide awake and apprehensive but quiet and undemonstrative in their defensive campaign. We shall see later how the contest between the "wets" and the "drys" went into the constitutional convention—and how it came out.

As the agitation for a convention progressed, there was in the preliminary discussions a considerable manifestation of that pessimism which regards everything under the existing system as headed for autocracy, destruction, and the eternal "bow wows." Hear ye one of the oracles:

"It is an old and true saying that power is ever stealing from the many to the few; so long has this been the case under our present constitution that but little power remains with the many to steal away. An opportunity now offers for the people to right these things and rescue the rights and powers that have been filched away from them, and they will do it or we are mistaken."

In this there is a very modern flavor.

"Conservatives" and "reactionaries" there were in goodly number and not a few of them looked forward hopefully to a constitutional convention as a refuge from what today would be called the "socialistic" schemes of the "mob" and the general assembly. Hear the introductory words of the appeal of a representative of this class:

"A revision of the present constitution with a view to its alteration, so as to entirely prohibit the legislature from hereafter engaging in schemes of internal improvement can not be too strenuously urged upon the people. * * * No one at this present day will for a moment contend that the legislature ever had an express constitutional authority for entering into such a scheme. * * * If it is necessary and proper that improvements such as canals and railroads should be made in the state, individual capital and enterprise will make them if they are profitable."

The real "stand-patters" who were opposed to any change were comparatively few and quiet, but on the battle line they did a little bush whacking from the underbrush.

The stormy petrel of the agitation for a new constitution was Hon. Samuel Medary, editor of the Ohio Statesmen, and an aggressive Democratic leader of the state. Not only did he advocate the convention through the columns of his paper, but on May 5, 1849, he commenced the publication of The New Constitution a weekly of octavo size, devoted entirely to the cause. He evidently was a revisionist for the sake of revision, a progressive and a conservative—in short he would go far to agree with any man who favored a new constitution. For that he even laid aside for the time being the discussion of partisan issues and became the virtual leader of the newspaper propaganda throughout the state in favor of the convention. No other man, perhaps, did so much to arouse popular interest and insure the triumph of his cause at the polls. In the last issue of The New Constitution, October 5, 1849, the result of the vote on holding a constitutional convention is announced as follows:

For the convention.....	145,698
Against the convention..	51,161
Total vote cast.....	235,270

It will, therefore, be seen that 38,511 electors who went to the polls did not vote at all on this question. The proposition carried by a majority of 58,628. We shall now see how the delegates were elected and how they set about making the new constitution.

SHOULD HAVE WISDOM.

When we come to elect a delegate to the constitutional convention, we shall fare ill if we do not elect a man who has not only probity, but knowledge of government and the wisdom to exclude from the fundamental law that which should be left as statute.—Mt. Gilead Sentinel.

One of the strong scenes from "The Chorus Lady" which will appear at the Sixth Street theater next Monday Night.

The Theatre

"The Chorus Lady."

On Monday Oct. 16th. at the 6th St. Theatre will be the comedy success of two continents, "The Chorus Lady", by James Forbes, the author of "The Traveling Salesman" and "The Commuters". The play which depicts the many phrases in the life of a chorus girl of to-day, is unusual in treatment and dramatic in climaxes. In Partricia O'Brien, Mr. Forbes has created a character new to the stage and one that will live for a long time. The second act, picturing the dressing room of the Broadway Theatre, New York, is very striking and creates a sensation. The company presenting the piece here will be one of the best obtainable and a beautiful production will be shown.

Our New Minister

A rural drama must be good to please Coshocton. It must have a human interest story so deep that the bottom part of the hardest heart will be reached and twinged with pain; it must have a vein of humor so rich and sparkling and so often exhibited that it will sooth the twinge of pain at the heart and cause tears of laughter to roll down one's cheeks in veritable stream. "Our New Minister," produced by Rosskam's excellent company at the Sixth-st. theatre Wednesday night, was all of these and more. Coshocton was well represented at the theatre for the house was once more stacked to the guards and Coshocton's representation to the man was pleased.

As the new minister Mr. Dorente was superb. He brought out the depth of thought concealed beneath the strong lines nicely and with the touch of the real artist.

Len Ransom was admirably interpreted by Richard Carhart as were the characters of Obediah Burton by G. L. Brown; Nance Ransom by Miss Prae; Sylvanus Bartlet by Jack Davis; and in fact every character in the play was interpreted in an irreproachable way.

Tonight the company will play the "Governor and the Boss."

"Peck's Bad Boy," which is to be at the 6th St. Theatre Tuesday Oct. 17, is so well known after many years before the public and is of such a clambang style that it is very easy for one to forget its importance as a play because of genuine merit. The play is the composite result of a series of sketches for juvenile readers which were written by the Hon. Geo. W. Peck, ex-Governor of the State of Wisconsin, a number of years ago. The sketches were more widely read in their day than were the "Dodley Letters" in theirs, and were peculiarly interesting to adult readers as well as to the children, although they had been written primarily for the latter. Richard C. Maddox made the dramatization of the sketches which is to be presented at the local playhouse soon.

Student Lichtenwalter Withdraws Appeal from Circuit Court

Columbus, O., Oct. 12.—Earl Lichtenwalter of Zanesville, Ohio State university law student, who killed Ray Golden here a year ago, when the latter caught Lichtenwalter in company with his wife, from whom he was separated, entered on his term of imprisonment in the Mansfield reformatory, his attorneys having withdrawn their appeal from the circuit court. While attending the university Lichtenwalter was employed as night clerk at the Bryden hotel. Mrs. Golden and he were in the habit of walking home together. Golden became jealous and followed them, the tragedy being the sequel.

HUSSARS ARE TO COME THIS P. M.

Peoples' Lecture Course Opens Tonight at M. E. Church at 8.15

The Hussars who will open the Peoples Lecture Course program in Coshocton at the Grace M. E. church this evening will arrive in Coshocton Thursday afternoon on No. 6. The Hussars are said to be one of the best musical attractions on the concert stage and they should attract a large crowd. Already a large number of season tickets have been sold but it is expected that, after the initial number of the program is heard many more will be sold tonight.

Because of the fact that most of the retail business houses will remain open this evening the program will not begin until 8:15. A particularly interesting program of music is promised.

A Cup Full of Coffee Satisfaction

THAT is what every cup of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is. It smells like good coffee—it tastes like good coffee. But it has not one of the bad after-effects of coffee.

It won't hurt the most sensitive stomach. It is good for it—tones up the digestion—and at the same time gives the palate all the pleasure that the finest coffee ever sold can give.

Fitch's Grains of Health

The Coffee Substitute With the Coffee Taste

Is as different from the ordinary tasteless or vile tasting coffee substitutes, as maple syrup is different from castor oil.

Many cannot tell Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH from coffee. Try it today and know for yourself how good it is. Drink all you want. The more the better. Physicians recommend it.

Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is sold by all leading grocers. The price is 30 cents the pound package. It is ground, ready for use. It is just as easy to prepare as coffee. But only half as much Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH is required as coffee—a teaspoonful to a cup. Therefore it really costs only half as much as good coffee.

If your grocer cannot supply you, write us, mentioning his name, and we will send you a generous sample package of Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH (enough to serve a large family at breakfast) and a booklet telling you all about Fitch's GRAINS OF HEALTH. Enclose 6 cents in stamps for postage.

JUNE AND OCTOBER

It is a matter of universal disappointment that the weather conditions have militated against the great annual county exposition this year—for the first time in several years. The county fair is one thing on which the whole country unites, on common ground. Town people and country people vie with each other to see who can "boost" the harder. In fact we congratulate the gentlemen of the Meek-Shipps-Ritchie crowd for having, for the first time of which we remember, joined with other citizens in boosting, instead of knocking. They were with the rest of us this time in trying to make the county fair the success that it always deserves to be. And yet their mental gymnastics are interesting to the close observer. The question arises, is Coshocton in October, different from or better than Coshocton in June? The query is a perfectly logical one, too, for last June, when this grand old county was celebrating its one hundredth birthday with a centennial that the whole state was talking about, this self-same self-appointed community-monitors, the Meek-Shipps-Ritchie crowd, came out in print, boldly advising people of the county to remain out of this city, for it was a wicked and defiled place; advising a general indifference to the centennial, on the sole ground that this city was not fit to remain in even for a day. That was in June. Now, in October, they have not only joined the rest of us in boosting the fair, but have never said a word about the town being "bad." And yet we doubt if conditions are changed one whit today from what they were last June. They have had a change of heart, and a change for the better. There are indications of not only loyalty but of christianity appearing. Mayhap it is because they are after town votes. We are honestly glad and congratulate the gentlemen. They appear to be in fair way to become better citizens of this best county in the best state. And the fact is that Coshocton, in either June or October, will compare favorably with any other town in the state under similar conditions. These gentlemen of the unhappy disposition merely make the good old town the "goat" whenever they arise with a brown taste in their mouths. And now there appears to be a sweetening of disposition and we are glad.

The department of agriculture estimatese that $620,000,000 worth of eggs were produced last year. We fear those figures must have been prepared when eggs were sling at midwinter prices.

HE ERRED

A negro orator on a Socialistic stump in Columbus last night declared that Lincoln, and the north and the abolishionists did not free the slaves, that that "we freed ourselves." That is an astonishing statement, even from a colored socialist brother. If his conceptions of points of political economy are as greatly distorted as his views on historical facts, then indeed is he in a bad mental condition. Quite to the contrary, absolute freedom was forced so quickly on the southern negroes that they themselves were the worst sufferers. For generations they had not known what independence or self reliance meant and when suddenly thrown on their own feet they were placed in an unfair position. The class hatred of whites against blacks in the south all dates after the war. And now how can the colored brother declare that "we freed ourselves?" True, the colored race is gradually and excellently freeing itself of the ignorance in which they were plunged by generations of slavery, and they are working out their own salvation better than any one could help them.

KIND THAT WINS

Like a man doing kindness to his neighbors, it is better to have a little late than none at all; yet the man or firm who leaps into the printed page with an advertisement of his business only at the time of the county fair is doing himself an injustice. The consistent day after day advertiser, whose ad appears day after day, month after month, is the man who reaps the real rewards when the town fills. He is the one the stranger is looking for. Spasmodic advertising, like spasmodic kindness, helps a little; but the real success is the man who keeps everlastingly at it.

That Kentucky wife who died laughing at one of her husband's jokes is probably some men's idea of a dutiful spouse.

It may be that not every country has spoken, but so far as heard from Canada is the only place where the increased cost of living is popular.

There never was a time before when it was worth so much money to big corporations to be in line with the law.

Mr. Bryan says he felt perfectly at home in Canada, and then he flatters us by calling attention to the fact that he came back.

Russians take advantage of the occasion to let the world know that they are suffering under a spurious brand of liberty.

A Sample of Pure Grit

Everyone admires grit. But when you find it in your underwear, the chances are that your washwoman has used laundry soap that has been dosed with rosin. Rosin is not a soap element—it merely adds weight. During the soaking it sinks into the fibre of the washables and acts as a binder for the particles of dirt which ought to be and are removed when Hewitt's Easy Task soap is used.

Just try Hewitt's Easy Task—made of soap elements only and costs no more than the aculterated kinds. Five cents.

KEEP THE SKIN CLEAR

With CUTICURA Soap and Ointment

No other emollients do so much for pimples, blackheads, red, rough and oily skin, itching, scaly scalps, dry, thin and falling hair, chapped hands and shapeless nails. They do even more for skin-tortured and disfigured infants.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a liberal sample of each, with 32-page booklet on the care and treatment of skin and hair, will be sent, postfree, on application to "Cuticura," Dept. A, Boston.

Up-to-Date Jokes

A countryman who had been henpecked all his life was about to die. His wife felt it her duty to offer him such consolation as she might, and said:

"John, you are about to go, but I will follow you."

"I suppose so, Manda," said the old man, weakly; "but so far as I am concerned you don't need to be in a hurry about it."

A parson, seeing a lazy man standing idly at the corner, approached him and said:

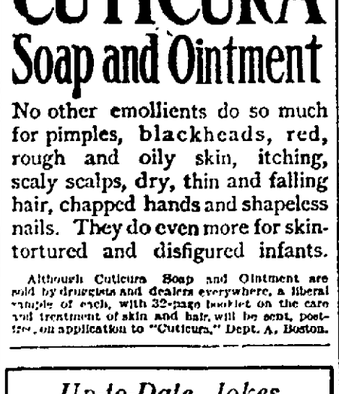

"Don't you know, my dear sir, that it is positively sinful to stand about wasting your time in this manner?"

The man replied: "Yes, I know it is, parson, and I'm going to stop it just as soon as I find a comfortable place to sit down."

Tramp—Yes, lady, fer a whole year I turned me back on likker.

Lady—Ah, my noble man, what were you then?

Tramp—I used to drive a brewery wagon, mum.

SUBURBAN STRATEGY.

"How in the world did you coax De Close to let you have the use of his new lawn mower?"

"It was easy. I started my old, quaky mower about 6 a. m. and it aroused De Close from his morning nap."

Obliging.

At a musical where a clergyman was a guest a young woman with a robust soprano voice did most of the entertaining. She was very proud of her accomplishments and her musical education. She sang songs in German, Italian, French and English. When she appeared to have exhausted her repertory and the company present were wishing for a change in the program the clergyman paid her some compliments and added:

"Why, Miss Jones, I think you could sing ad infinitum."

"I really don't know it," responded the obliging young woman, "but if the music is here I'll try it."

SKIN A MASS OF FIRE

Horrible torture pain unendurable days when the whole body seems to be burning up—long nights of sleepless agony—

Then—

Instant relief—the skin cooled and refreshed—all burning and itching gone!

Thousands testify to this—thousands who suffered from Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles, until they heard of that simple cooling wash of wintergreen, thymol and other ingredients known as D. D. D. Prescription.

J. Samuel Lewis of St. Paul, Minn., writes: "I used three bottles of D. D. D. Prescription, and now my skin, once a mass of fire and irritation, is as smooth and soft as a child's."

A 25c trial bottle will give you positive proof.

I am so certain of what D. D. D. will do for you that I offer you a full size bottle on this guarantee:—If you do not find that it takes away the itch AT ONCE, it costs you not a cent.

Soothing

It ain't everybody I'd put to sleep in this room," said Old Mrs. Jinks to the fastrdious and extremely nervous young minister who was spending his first night in B— at her house. "This here room is full of sacred associations to me," she went on. "My first husband died in that bed with his head on them very pillers, and poor Mr. Jinks died sittin' right in that very chair there in the corner. Sometimes when I come into the room in the dark I think I see him sittin' there still. My own father died layin' right on that lounge under the winder. Poor pa! He was a speeritualist, and he allus said he'd appear in this room again after he died; and sometimes I look for him. My son by my first fell dead of heart disease right where you stand. He was a doctor, and there's two whole skeletons in that closet that belongs to him, and half a dozen skulls in that lower drawer. Well, good night, and pleasant dreams."

Wanted More

A shy young man had been calling on "the sweetest girl in the world," but, being bashful, his suit progressed slowly.

Finally she decided to start something, so the next time he caled she pointed to the rose in his buttonhole and said:

"I'll give you a kiss for that rose."

A crimson flush spread over his countenance, but the exchange was made after some hesitation on his part. Then he grabbed his hat and started to leave the room.

"Why, where are you going?" she asked in surprise.

"To the—er—gardener, for more roses," he called back from the door.

Boots and Shoes.

Boots are supposed to have been the invention of the Carians. They were mentioned by Homer 907, B. C. Grecian women possessed twenty-two kinds of footgear, which may be classed as those which cover all the foot up to the ankle and those which simply tied on the top of the foot with wide ribbons or straps. The practice of shoe and sandal wearing can be tracked back for some thousands of years and is probably of eastern origin. Frequent mention is made of the shoe in the Bible, from the book of Exodus to the Acts, and there is mention made of a shoe latchet as early as the time of Abraham.

A New Point of View.

A youngster had been very rude to his mother, and she had turned him over to his father to be disciplined when the following conversation was overheard:

"Ted, did you say so and so to your mother?"

"Yes, dad."

"Well, you will have to settle that matter with her, because she is your mother and not mine. But she is my wife, and I will not allow any man, young or old, to be rude to her. Now you must apologize to me for being rude to my wife, and then you can settle with your mother for being rude to her."—New York Press.

GREAT BATTLE ANTICIPATED

James McNamara Now On Trial Charged With Murder.

Los Angeles, Oct. 12. — James B. McNamara, 29, single, of Cincinnati, went on trial for murder here before Judge Walter Bordwell. District Attorney John D. Fredericks, for the prosecution, elected to try him for the murder of Charles J. Haggerty, a machinist, who, with 20 other men, met death in an explosion and fire which wrecked the Los Angeles Times building Oct. 1, 1910.

John J. McNamara was returned to his cell in the county jail, there to await the outcome of the trial of his brother.

The defense indicated clearly the fight it is going to make to get a jury of its liking. When the examination of the first venireman called, Z. T. Nelson of Long Beach, Cal., commenced, LeCompte Davis began questioning him as to his opinion regarding labor organizations. The prosecution objected to this right of questioning, asserting that organized labor is not on trial—that this is to be a trial of individuals and not of the issues between capital and labor. Davis finally withdrew his questions. Nelson was trapped finally into an admission of some prejudice in the case, and while he is still in the box, it is certain that he will be challenged.

Having the right to elect which defendant's fate should be decided, District Attorney Fredericks announced that he would call James ahead of his brother.

The defense hoped to force Fredericks to try John first, on the ground that John had been kidnaped from Indianapolis and was therefore entitled to earlier consideration. Fredericks declined to take this view, however, preferring to put James on trial first, inasmuch as it is not necessary to prove conspiracy in his case, as it would be if John were tried.

In overruling the motion of the defense for a change of judges, Judge Bordwell declared the charge that he was not qualified to try the case had not been proved. He incorporated in the record an affidavit by himself disclaiming any bias, and another affidavit by Presiding Judge Hutton of the superior court, denying that there would be a violation of the legal procedure if the case were assigned to Bordwell. The court permitted the defense to note exceptions.

A Bird That's Hard to Kill.

Penguins have an extraordinary amount of vitality and are harder to kill than any ordinary cat. The writer once had occasion to kill a large bird aboard his ship, the Southern Cross, and, making use of the weapon next his hand, he drove a large spike squarely through the creature's head and finished the operation by nailing it fast to the deck. That seemed to make the job very complete, and he went below decks for dinner. Coming up an hour later, his astonishment was prodigious on beholding the penguin, head erect, flippers out, waddling about, apparently without a thought of the spike, which still remained transfixed in his cranium.

The Matrimonial Game.

"Politics is like marriage, and you know what the pretty widow said about marriage at the seashore." The speaker smiled and continued:

"A somewhat passe summer girl, at the end of a season that had left her further off than ever from the matrimonial harbor, looked sadly seaward and said:

"'Well, marriage is a lottery.'

"But a fair young widow whose engagement to a millionaire of fifty-two summers had just been announced—this fair young widow with a toss of the head retorted:

"'Don't you believe it. It's a game of skill.'"—Exchange.

FOR A SICK, SOUR, BILIOUS STOMACH, GAS OR INDIGESTION SURELY TAKE CASCARETS

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling of fullness, dizziness and sick headache, means indigestion; a disordered stomach which cannot be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they cure indigestion, because they immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Then your stomach trouble is ended forever. A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10 cent box will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle, cleansing, too.

PETER CHIMES DUPLICATES HIS LAST YEAR'S RECORD ON LOCAL TRACK WEDNESDAY

Yesterday's Races Were Filled With Many Thrills and Surprises — Ohio Extellion Makes Everybody Take Notice In the Slow Trot.

By taking three straight heats, Peter Chimes won the 2:12 pace at the opening series of races at the fair grounds Wednesday; also duplicating his last year's record. Although the time was not exceptionally fast the race was as prettily run as has been seen on local tracks for some time. The fastest time made was 2:19 1-4.

Trotted Some.

Probably the most exciting race of the afternoon, owing to the number of heats run was the 2:25 trot, which was won by Ohio Axtellion in the fifth heat. The race between Ohio Axtellion and Lady Bell was an exciting one, not being decided until the very last. In the first heat Ohio Axtellion hung back finishing sixth while Jessie Jay made first place easily. Lady Bell finished third.

Axtellion Stirred 'Em.

In the fourth heat Ohio Axtellion caused quite a stir among the spectators, when about eighth he suddenly shot ahead of Lady Bell, winning the heat with much applause. The last heat was almost as closely contested as the fourth, but the favorite won the race by finishing first in the last two heats.

Contrary to the preceding races all seven horses entered started in the 2:30 pace. The race was the fastest run race of the afternoon, Hal Nuthurst and Col. Johnson furnishing the greatest excitement and both were easily the favorites in the betting. The first heat was a thriller. The four horses who were really in the race passed the line almost neck to neck, with Sister Todd leading by a few feet. Mable Sh finished a close second. Hal Nuthurst was easily first in the second heats with Sister Todd second.

The third and fourth heats were also won by Hal Nuthurst with Col. Johnson second. The fastest time made was 2:23 1-4.

Today's races will be started promptly at 12:30 and from the interest displayed Wednesday the attendance will be more than doubled.

H. K. Laird is acting as starter. The other officials are:

Judges: Mr. Marvel, M. A. McConnell and A. H. Thomson.

Timers: Frank Karr, Fred Munn and Mr. Porteus.

BIBLE STUDIES

KING CYRUS GOD'S SHEPHERD

Ezra i, 1-11; ii, 64-70—Oct. 15

"He retaineth not His anger forever, because He delighteth in mercy."—Micah vii, 18.

The heathen gods are all vengeful. The God of the Bible alone lays claim to being a God of love, "whose mercy endureth forever," as one of the Psalms repeats again and again. And as how terribly our God of Wisdom, Justice, Love and Power has been misrepresented to the world, and to the Church as a God relighting in the eternal torture of the vast majority of His creatures; for if such were His provision for them, and He knew the end from the beginning, it would surely prove that He delighted in and intended their torture. But when our eyes open to a proper interpretation of God's Word, how His character becomes glorious before our eyes and commands our love and our devotion! As the Apostle declares, it is the Divine Love which constrains us to be faithful and obedient.

Today's study relates to the release of the Israelites from their Babylonian captivity, and their return to Palestine. This return was in exact fulfilment of the Lord's Word at the mouth of Jeremiah, the Prophet, who specifically told the destruction of the city, and also that it would be seventy years before the return if its inhabitants—Jeremiah xxv, 12; xxix, 10; compare II Chronicles xxxvi, 22, 23.

We suggest a careful reading of the Scriptures above cited, to establish the fact that the seventy years predicted relate to the desolation of the city of Jerusalem and of their land and not merely to the captivity of the people, some of whom went into captivity twenty years before the city was destroyed. Many, in applying this, have started the seventy years from the beginning of the first captivity and thus are twenty years out of the way. Facts of history have been so built around this error, gradually, that many now hold the unscriptural view; but if the Bible is to be our criterion we must stand by it.

One of the most wonderful things connected with the story of Israel's release from Babylonian captivity is that Cyrus was named by the Prophet Isaiah in advance and called "God's Shepherd"—Cyrus is my shepherd, and shall reform all My pleasure, even saying to Jerusalem, thou shalt be built; and to the temple thy foundation shall be laid" (Isaiah xliv, 28). Profane history gives Cyrus a very honorable name, calling him "gracious, clement and just, treating men as men and not as mere tools to be used and cast aside—a conqueror of quite a different type from any the world had previously seen."

King Cyrus' New Method

Nebuchadnezzar's theory of government was to bring representatives of the people of all lands to Babylon and there make them homogeneous, choosing the best of every nationality. But when Cyrus came upon the scene, as the conqueror of the Babylonian empire, Darius, the Mede, being under him, he found that the theory of his predecessor had not worked out satisfactorily. The mixed people of Chaldea were not patriotic. Cyrus the world. He not only gave liberty to the Jews to return to their own land and gave them assistance back, but he did the same for the people of other nations, exiled in Babylon.

A brief epitome of the giving of his proclamation of liberty to the Jews is, "Thus saith Cyrus, King of Persia: All the kingdoms of earth hath Jehovah; the God of heaven, given unto me; and He has charged me to build Him a house at Jerusalem which is in Judah. Whoever there is among you of all his people, his God be with him, and let him go to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and build the house of Jehovah, the God of Israel (He is the God), which is at Jerusalem; and whosoever is left, in any place where he sojourneth (unprepared for the journey), let the men of his place help him with silver and with gold and with goods and with beasts, beside the free-will offering for the house of God, which is at Jerusalem."

The King himself gave liberally toward the work and, through the treasurer, numbered to the Israelites vessels and utensils of the temple great and small, fifty-four hundred.

Tradition says that the Israelites set out on their journey accompanied by an escort of a thousand cavalry for their protection from the desert Arabs, and that they went forth to the sound of joyous music, in harmony with Isaiah xlviii, 20, 21—"Go ye out of Babylon; flee from the Chaldeans, with the voice of singing declare ye, tell this; utter it even unto the end of the earth; say ye, The Lord hath redeemed His servant Jacob."

God's Purifying Word

If we have been astonished from time to time at the readiness of the Israelites to go into idolatry we may also feel astonished that from the time of their return from the Babylonian captivity, idolatry in its grosser form, was never known amongst them. In Babylon they sat down by the banks of the river and "wept" as they remembered Zion in its desolate condition; and then their thought traveled back to the gracious promises of God to which their nation was still heir.

The total number to return was about the same number that now occupy the city of Jerusalem (now returning after a still greater scattering than at the time of the destruction of their city by Nebuchadnezzar)—about fifty thousand.

Professor Addeney has well remarked of that time, "The Jews now constituted themselves into a Church. The chief concern of their leaders was to develop their religious life and character. The policy of exclusiveness saved Judaism. This is an application—though a very harsh and formal application—of the principle of separation from the world, which Christ and His Apostles enjoined upon the Church, the neglect of which has at times nearly resulted in the disappearance of any trace of truth and life, like the disappearance of a river that, breaking through its banks spreads itself out in lagoons and morasses and ends by being swallowed up in the sounds of the desert."

Dr. Peloubet says of this time, "The exiles brought together the representatives of the divided kingdom and made one nation where had been two, welding the twelve tribes together like iron in a furnace."

God represented this union through the Prophet Ezekiel (xxxvii, 15-28), by two sticks. On one was written "Judah" and on the other "The House of Israel." These sticks were joined together, "And they shall become one in thine hand." This was done in the presence of the people, to show that the exiles of Israel, carried to Babylon, B. C. 722, when Samaria was destroyed, were to unite with the captives of Judah. "And I will make them one nation, and one king shall be king over them all; and they shall be no more two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all." Thus we see that there were no "ten lost tribes," for whom there has been so much seeking.

Denmark's Sovereigns.

Denmark has had a most curious array of sovereigns, the Blue Tooth, Forked Beard, Simple, Hungry, Harefoot, Lamb, Pious and Cruel being among them. This latter, who was Christian II., belied his real name by gaining the additional title of the Nero of the North. There was probably little happiness in Denmark when he sat upon the throne.

HEALTHY MOTHERS

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

CUTS GASH IN HIS WRIST WITH KNIFE

While cutting material with which he was roofing his house, George Taylor of Davis Hollow, cut a deep gash in his right wrist severing an artery, with a knife when his hand slipped. Dr. Marquand gave the man medical attention. The wound bled profusely. It is not serious.

The Age of Development

We don't have to be grandmothers to remember the time when mother made soft soap with the fat savings, combined with potash, which were mixed with the same accuracy as when she put a pinch of salt into the stew. We call this "soap" by courtesy, but it wasn't a good soap to use.

Hewitt's Easy Task soap is a scientific product—no guesswork, no excess of fat or alkali, which are both injurious, but real soap, which is absolutely effective. It is pure and white, made exactly the same for a quarter of a century—there are many imitations—insist on getting Easy Task.

PLAYFUL DOG BITES YOUNG PLAYMATE

A dog belonging to Benj. Dile of Locust street bit Joseph Fisher, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher twice in the calf of the right leg Wednesday evening while it was playing with the boy. One of the Dile children was walking along the street leading the dog with a string when young Fisher started to play with the brute. The animal snapped him before he could get away. The wounds were both slight ones. The boy was taken to the office of a physician where the wounds were cauterized. Rabbies is not feared.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R.V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N.Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for women's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

THIRD GAME IS BATTING FEST

All Star Bunch Again Defeats the World's Champions

Richmond, Va., Oct. 12.—The All Stars had little trouble in defeating the Philadelphia Americans here, 13 to 8. Neither team showed remarkable defensive powers, the men being unwilling to take chances. Mack used Morgan, Krause and Coombs in the box. They yielded 15 hits, while his men got the same number from Collins and Mullin, who pitched for th All-Stars.

A Scoreless Tie.

St. Louis, Oct. 12.—The post-season local championship series between St. Louis American and National teams was opened with a scoreless tie game, which was called owing to darkness at the end of the ninth inning, in which the Americans got a runner as far as third base. A Brown runner was also left on third in the fifth.

Too Small For Him.

Spanish grandees delight in numerous names, even appropriating those that belong to their wives' families. One of these distinguished dons, wandering too far into the country, went astray on a lonely road late at night. He knocked at the door of a small inn, the landlord of which from an upper window shouted:

"Who is there?"

"Don Diego de Mendoza Silva Ribero Guzman Pimental Osario Ponce de Leon Guinaza Accrora Tellez y Giron," replied the grandee

"In that case," interrupted the innkeeper, closing the window, "go; there is not room here for half of you."

OHIO NEWS.

Postoffice and Depot Robbed.

Wellsville, O., Oct. 12.—The postoffice at Smiths Ferry was burglarized and five men are under arrest here on suspicion of complicity in the crime. They are Ben Terry, Pittsburg; Ed Hoover, Beaver Falls; Ed Miller, William Richmond and Coyl Hilary of East Liverpool. Richmond is 16 and a former Cleveland youth. The postoffice safe withstood the attack, but the thieves opened letters, stealing checks and money. They later visited the C. & P. station, where they got away with only 10 cents in cash.

Warning Against Green Oranges.

Columbus, O., Oct. 12. — Governor Harmon and State Dairy and Food Commissioner Strode have received warning telegrams from the Florida Citrus exchange of Tampa, Fla., advising that unscrupulous orange growers of that state have consigned to northern markets, which includes Ohio, large quantities of poisonous green oranges, which the exchange declares are dangerous to the health and lives of those who eat them, particularly children and invalids.

Doings of Knights Templars.

Dayton, O., Oct. 12.—While 30 bands played "Onward Christian Soldiers," 3,000 Knights Templars marched the streets of Dayton in a grand pageant. This feature was the crowning event of the sixty-ninth conclave. Forty-four Ohio commanderies were represented in the procession. A ball was given at Memorial hall for the knights and their families. Over 5,000 attended this function as the guests of Reed commandery.

Drunken Cows Refuse Milk.

Chardon, O., Oct. 12.—Dairymen in this vicinity report that their cows get so drunk from eating half-rotten apples that cover the ground in abundance that they refuse to give up milk and can't manipulate their cuds. Recent hard winds have stripped the trees of apples and the fruit has become bruised in falling. This causes fermentation.

Porkers Sleep Off Jag.

Norwalk, O., Oct. 12. — Even the pigs know how to acquire a quiet souse over in dry Sandusky county. Those of John Fiegelist of St. John's Bridge ate so much pulp around his cider press that it took them several hours to sleep off their jag. Efforts to rouse them resulted in the oddest lot of pig tracks John had ever seen.

Freight House Crushed.

Akron, O., Oct. 12.—With a crash that could be heard all over the city the reinforced concrete viaduct over the Cleveland, Akron & Columbus railroad collapsed, crushing the railroad company's freight house like pasteboard. The structure was a wing from the Mill street viaduct, erected only a few years ago at a cost of $250,000.

Anti-Harmon Attack Fails.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 12.—Efforts to have the Ohio State Federation of Labor go on record against the political ambitions of Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio met with rejection after a warm debate. The effort was declared by the majority of speakers to be an attempt to infuse personal grievances and politics into the workings of the convention.

Watchman Instantly Killed.

Akron, O., Oct. 12.—In the explosion of a friction calendar at the Diamond Rubber company's plant Joseph Senner, 46, a watchman, was torn to pieces and instantly killed. M. L. Talkinton sustained bad cuts about the head and legs and Joseph Seizerwald received three fractured ribs and internal injuries believed to be fatal.

Victims of Mad Dog.

Zanesville, O., Oct. 12. — A panic was created at Fultonham, near here, by a dog running amuck. Fifteen persons were bitten before the dog was killed. It is believed the dog was mad, and all those bitten will go to Chicago for treatment.

MARRIED LIFE, SECOND YEAR

"FINE CAR YOU have here," said Warren admiringly, as they whirled over the freshly oiled roads.

"Suits me all right," Mr. Stevens assented complacently. "About as good as they make 'em for all round service Can't be beat for speed and durability. I looked the market over pretty thoroughly before deciding on this, and I'm well enough satisfied."

"I should think you would be," agreed Warren. "How long have you had this?"

"About six months now."

"And it's so beautifully appointed and finished," said Helen, who was leaning back luxuriously, enjoying every moment of this fast whirl through the country. "I love this shade of maroon, it's so soft and rich."

"Yes, that's my wife's choice," said Stevens. "Our last car was dark green but she took a fancy to this."

The Stevenses were rather well-to-do Brooklyn people, who are spending the summer at the seaside hotel where Helen and Warren were now staying. Mrs. Stevens had taken a strong fancy to Helen, and her husband and Warren seemed congenial, so the party of four were often together.

And this evening they were all out in the Stevens's big car. To Helen, who since her marriage had so few opportunities for motoring this was a rare treat. The swift motion and fresh air brought the color to her cheeks and her eyes sparkled with pleasure.

The roads were broad and smooth as glass and their headlights lit up the way as they sped through the darkness. Now and then an occasional car with its gleaming lights came suddenly out of the night and shot past them. Helen could not help but think of the danger should either car swerve the least to the left—the horrible collision that would follow.

To the right of the road! Only in the universal knowledge and strict observance of that rule lay their safety. Their lives were not only in the hands of their own chauffeur, but equally in that of the driver of every other car which passed them.

Helen knew that in England the rules of the road were just opposite. There it was always "Keep to the left!" Supposing an English chauffeur should be brought over here, and in a moment of confusion instinctively revert to his accustomed habit!

On and on they flew through the soft darkness, the cool, sweet odor of the woods and the night air.

Suddenly as they passed a small farm house three dogs came tumbling out in the road They were barking at the machine and fighting with each other. As the chauffeur turned out sharply, two rolled together almost under the wheels.

Helen gave a wild, piercing shriek as she clutched Warren's arm. But the dogs were unhurt. With unusual skill the driver had swerved still further and passed them unharmed.

Warren shook off Helen's hand which still clasped his arm.

"What on earth's the matter with you?" angrily. "Shrieking here like a Comanche Indian!"

"Oh, but Warren," breathlessly, "I was so frightened! Oh, I was sure he would run over those dogs!"

"Well, he didn't, did he? And what good would your shrieking do anyway? Don't you think the driver's capable of running this car?"

"Of course, only I was so frightened; I couldn't help it."

"Well, you'll help it next time—or I'll not go out with you again."

"Why, Warren,"—with a catch in her voice. The sudden fright had completely unnerved her.

"Now, for heaven's sawe, don't begin sniffling. You've made enough of an exhibition of yourself for one evening."

Never before had Warren spoken to her in this way in the presence of others. And now her sense of indignation conquered her tears. She drew back in her corner of the car without speaking. While the Stevenses had not heard just what he had said—for his voice, though fierce, had been in an undertone which the noise of the car had helped to drown—still they had heard enough to know his anger and Helen's hurt.

"Never mind what he says," laughed Mrs. Stevens in a kindly effort to put Helen at ease. "All men get angry when you are frightened and scream. That is, after you're married—before that they think it's your delicate, high-strung nature and are all the more tender. But after a year or so of marriage, they think it's a foolish display of nerves." Then turning to her husband, "And you all hate it—don't you, Will?"

Mr. Stevens laughed and shrugged his shoulders. "My dear, you usually forget to scream until after the thing is over."

Here the car gave a heavy jolt as they passed over a railroad track, and for a moment their attention was diverted.

"Take it easy over those tracks, John," Mr. Stevens called out to the driver. "You'd better slow up along here anyway."

Helen was sitting far back, her face shaded by her veil. Why had Warren spoken to her like that before these people? It seemed so needless to humiliate her in this way! And now he was making it worse by maintaining towards her a persistent silence.

"There's a pretty good roadhouse around this turn," announced Mr. Stevens. "They've got some darky singers there that aren't half bad. What do you say to stopping? John," calling out to the driver, "turn up at that sign there!"

It was a typical country roadhouse, catering to the automobile trade. A colored youth strummed a piano another a banjo and a third pranced up and down singing "My Honey Girl."

They all ordered some light cooling drinks and Warren and Mr. Stevens lit cigars At any other time Helen would have enjoyed it. But now she was most unhappy. If Warren would only say something to her, anything to put her at ease and make things right. But while he was laughing and talking with the Stevenses he ignored her entirely.

The negro stopped singing now, but Mrs. Stevens was still humming the air—tapping time on the table.

"Oh, Will, go over and ask them to sing "My Lady Sue."

As Mr. Stevens rose to comply, Helen pleadingly slipped her hand into Warren's which was holding a napkin on his knee.

"What's the matter?" curtly. "Do you want this napkin? Dropped yours?"

She flushed hotly. Oh, how cruel he could be! But Mrs. Stevens was watching her, so she stooped over as though to pick up her napkin.

"Yes—but never mind—I have it now!"

NONE OF HER BUSINESS

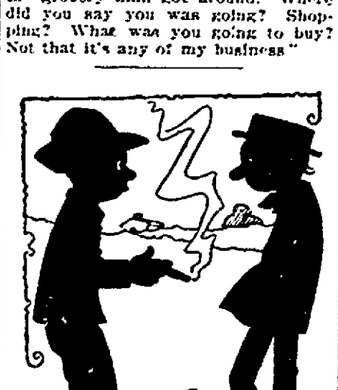

"MY LANDS, BUT them stairs take the tucker out of a person!" gasped the woman from the first floor as she impinged heavily on a kitchen chair. "I don't see how you folks stand it, climbing up and down. I couldn't. But then you and your husband both is kinda slight built, so I s'pose you don't feel it the way I do, being fleshy, as you might say. I see the expressman bringing up a trunk a while ago. Was you expecting company, not that it's any of my business?

"No, I didn't think you was. I says to Mrs. Bullen, I says, when the trunk went up, 'This ain't the time o' year for visitors,' I says. 'Not from the country, anyway. It's the time for visiting. Mrs. Deakin, across the court, went to her folks out Des Plaines way last week and she's going to be gone a month, so the janitor says. Mr. Deakin's supposed to sleep in the flat, but there ain't been no light nor no sounds of him as I've heard since she went. If he does come home, he comes mighty late and goes mighty early, and he ain't taking no milk in. It ain't none of my business, but I'd like to slip in and put a couple of bread pans in his bed and see if they ain't there three weeks from now. You take them men that wears black string ties and sideburns and they ain't always safe to leave alone. Not that it's any of my business where he is nights.

"I see about a dozen empty beer bottles on the windowsill below as I came up. The window was raised a couple of inches and they was beer plain enough, and there wasn't none there yesterday morning because I took notice. If it was one or two bottles, I wouldn't think nothing of it, but when people that claim to be ruffined gets away with a dozen at a sitting I've got my opinion of them. I don't say nothing, because it ain't my affair as long as they don't jar down the plaster from my ceilings; but, believe me, some of these times there's going to be roughhouse, as Mr. Pryor says, and the first thing you know, we'll have a patrol wagon backing up to the curb and that will be a nice thing.

"It does beat all how people are, doesn't it? I got a surprise this morning. Leastaways it wasn't a surprise because I'd been kinda looking for it. Them Merriams next door. You know I told M. Pryor when they moved in that their furniture was installment. There wasn't no name on the van, but when you see everything brand, spick-and-span new and brass bedsteads and mission furniture and pictures and kitchen dishes all coming in together, you can't tell me, not if it's ever so. And a collector regularly every month that ain't papers or laundry or the gas. Of course, if folks want to buy on installment, it's their business, it ain't mine, but, as I say to Mr. Pryor, 'Give me my own sticks that's bought and paid for if the varnish is scratched and rubbed. When I lay down at night I want it to be in a bed that I know ain't going to be took from under me before I wake, and that's just exactly what's going to happen to the Merriams. I happened to be looking out of my kitchen window when that collector called and it wasn't the first time either in the last week. Well, she hadn't got the money for him and he was real ugly. I couldn't hear what she said because she was talking low, but he says to her, 'I ain't got nothing to do with that,' he says. 'You tell your husband he's gotta come across by noon tomorrow or he'll have some costs to pay as well.' I felt like butting in, as Mr. Pryor says, and pushing a mop in his big mouth, but it wasn't none of my business.

"And will you please tell me how that lodger of Mrs. Atkins's pays her board and room and a lunch down town out of her wages and then has enough to buy real lace trimmed longeree and silk stockings? Better days she may have seen, but when it comes to a full clothes-line of nothing but, as close as pins will pin 'em, it looks to me mighty—well, of course, it ain't my business. I told Mrs. Atkins so. 'It ain't none o' my business, ma'am,' I says. 'She could hang pink lights out on the line if she had the face to, as far as I'm concerned, but if it was me rooming her'—. May be you saw them? No? Well, I guess I'm naturally kinda observing. I see a lot of things that I don't talk about, too. I tell Mr. Pryor I've got enough things of my own to look after, dear knows without poking into other folks' business, but I was bound I'd konw about that trunk going up to you because I didn't know but what you might be a-going out of town or having visitors or your husband getting back. I see the postman putting a letter in your box that looked like it was from him but—well, don't mind me if you've got to dress, I just thought I'd see if I could borrow the fill of a cup of coffee from you till the grocery man got around. Where did you say you was going? Shopping? What was you going to buy? Not that it's any of my business."

AS IT REALLY IS.

"So you're back from your rest, are you?"

"Not exactly. I'm back for my rest."

AND THEY GO MARCHING ON

Marriage License Clerk Is Still Kept Busy Issuing Permits

It is strange but true the lovelorn lad can muster up courage enough to ask the idol of his heart to become his wife but when it comes to bracing the probate clerk for a marriage license he loses all his nerve. This is especially true on fair week. Perhaps it is more noticeable on this week than others because there is such an influx of prospective brides and bridegrooms. Thursday morning a young couple well past the age of youthful shyness entered the court house. They stopped in the foyer and after much shrugging of shoulders and whispered conversation they entered the main corridor headed for the probate judge's office. But just when spectators began to think they had gathered their scattered courage and were ready to make a rush on the clerk their steps faltered and they stopped in front of the treasurer's office where another consultation was held. A fresh start was made for the door but for some reason the youthful couple could not "see" the idea of entering that room. They passed the door and went to the other end of the hall.

Then the prospective bride-groom thought he would save the day. Whispering a few words of courage in his sweetheart's ear he left her standing all alone in the cold corridor and bracing his shoulders entered the probate room.

"I would like to get a — " here something big came up in his throat. After he had swallowed hard two or three times he said— " — a marriage license."

The clerk looked askance at the young man. "Where is the bride?" he asked. "You know the law says both the parties interested must make application."

There is where the brave youngster was stalled. Flushing to the roots of his hair he stepped to the door called his soon-to-be better-half and the license was issued.

Fair time certainly has a peculiar effect on a youth's heart and gives Cupid a splendid opportunity to do his worst.

Wednesday afternoon and evening and Thursday morning the following marriage permits were issued:

Warner D Wisenburg 25, day operator, Coshocton and Miss Effie M. Shrigley, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Shrigley. Rev. Albus named to officiate.

Fred Young, 26, express messenger, Alliance, O., and Miss Hattie Miller, 26, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Wm B Miller, Monroe tp. Rev. Walker of Killbuck named to officiate.

James Hilligas, 19, novelty worker, Coshocton, and Miss Stella Mardis 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Mardis, Coshocton. Rev. Roby of Newcomerstown named to officiate.

Ernest A. Senter, 21, miner, Conesville, and Miss Alice Navada Holdsworth, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Holdsworth, Conesville. Rev. Senter of Conesville named to officiate.

Aerial Postman's Fall.

Garden City, L. I., Oct. 12—Earl L. Ovington, the aerial postman, fell 75 feet with his monoplane at the Nassau boulevard aerodrome and narrowly escaped serious injury. The aeroplane was smashed and the aviator has now given up, for the time being at any rate, his intention of flying to Los Angeles with the mail for Postmaster General Hitchcock.

PIMPLES REMOVED QUICKLY

The New Calcium Sulphide Treatment Does Wonders to Every Kind of Skin Eruption.

Trial Package Sent Free to Prove It.

You don't want to wait forever and a day to get rid of your pimples or other skin eruptions. You want to get rid of them right now. Next week you may want to go somewhere where you wouldn't like to have to take the pimples along.

"I Got Rid of My Pimples in a Few Days With Stuart's Calcium Wafers"

You can get rid of them just in time by taking Stuart's Calcium Wafers.

The wonderful little workers have cured bad boils in three days, and some cases of skin diseases in a week.

They contain as their main ingredient the most thorough, quick and effective blood cleanser known, calcium sulphide.

Remember this, too, that most pimple treatments reek with poison. And they are miserably slow besides.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers have not a particle of poison in them. They are free from mercury, biting drugs or venomous opiates. This is absolutely guaranteed. They cannot do any harm, but they always do good—good that you can see in the mirror before your own eyes a few days after.

Don't be any longer humiliated by having a splotchy face. Don't have strangers stare at you, or allow your friends to be ashamed of you because of your face.

Your blood makes you what you are. The men and women who forge ahead are those with pure blood and pure faces.

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will make you happy because your face will be a welcome sight not only to yourself when you look into the glass, but to everybody else who knows you and talks to you.

We want to prove to you that Stuart's Calcium Wafers are beyond doubt the best and quickest blood and skin purifier in the world—so we will send you a free sample as soon as we get your name and address. Send for it today, and then when you have tried the sample you will not rest contented until you have bought a 50 cent package at your druggists.

Send us your name and address on the coupon below and we will at once send you by mail a sample package, free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 175 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

A LITTLE DANDERINE WILL MAKE YOUR HAIR LUSTROUS, SOFT, FLUFFY, ABUNDANT

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

If you Wish to Double the Beauty of your Hair in Ten Minutes surely Try a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Try as you will, after one application of Danderine you cannot find any dandruff or a loose or falling hair, and your scalp will never itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. Danderine makes the hair grow long, heavy and luxuriant and we can prove it. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Filipino Outlaw Dead.

Washington, Oct. 12. — Oteri, the Filipino bandit and outlaw, has fallen, to the great joy of the constabulary, who had been on his trail ever since the American occupation.

Women Defeated

California Against Suffrage By About 5,000 Plurality.

San Francisco, Oct. 12. — With about 80 per cent of the vote counted it is now certain that woman suffrage was defeated in the special election by about 5,000 majority, while nearly all the other 22 amendments submitted to the people were adopted. The defeat of suffrage was accomplished by this city, which gave a majority against the amendment of 13,359, while outside of the city the state gave a majority of 8,000 for suffrage.

It is interesting to note that the recall received a majority of 75,000, the greatest vote of all the amendments.

Undiscouraged by their defeat, women, taking advantage of the initiative and referendum amendment adopted at the election, are preparing to submit to the people at the regular election in November another proposition for suffrage. They contend that their defeat was due to the fact that in the country the vote was very light, while in cities where suffrage was weakest, the vote was much heavier.

ZACH BUSH IS CALLED ABOVE

Prominent Mohawk Man Dies Wednesday From Long Illness Of Dropsy.

After having been ill for many weeks from dropsy, Zachariah Bush one of the county's most widely known men, died at his home about two miles south of Mohawk Wednesday evening at 5 o'clock. He was 80 years old.

Mr. Bush has been in ill health for two years. About two months ago his condition became critical and since that time he has been failing rapidly.

He leaves the widow and the following children: John Bush of Colorado; Mrs. Agnes Barret, Mrs. Neptune and Mrs. John Kuhn of Warsaw, Jabetz and Grant Bush who live in the west; Benjamin Nmiel, Zachariah and Miss Minnie Bush of the home. He also leaves two brothers, K. L. Bush of Des Moines, Ia., ... C. Bush of Coshocton and one sister, Mrs. Anna Wheeler of Oklahoma.

Mr Bush was born in Maryland. When a year old he moved to Bedford-tp. The greater part of his life was spent in that neighborhood. He has always been one of the county's most progressive men and was prominent in public and social life of his neighborhood.

Brentwood

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweetening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times and dispels colds, headaches and the pains caused by indigestion and constipation so promptly and effectively that it is the one perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it and who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna.

For sale by all leading druggists. Price 50 cents per bottle.
